

Mid heatwave, on the floor of a small London flat, a mother breastfeeds her feverish baby. The chaotic scene encapsulates the intensity of mothering, of putting everything aside at a moment's notice. It's a visual representation of a mother's acute concern for her child and their wellbeing eclipsing all else.