

A looped film of Young breastfeeding her baby as she simultaneously drinks a pint of milk from a plastic carton. A slapstick routine, pointing to the circular and entangled nature of the labour undertaken. The more the baby feeds the more milk Young produces so the labour can be repeated – put in, take out and give out