

Can the surface be anything more than the point at which things become visible or invisible? Can a gender be more than a feeling and biology as a matter of fact? Can Motherhood Be a Mode of Rebellion?