

It's so easy to disappear into the fabric of life; breaking patterns by telling our stories about our lived experience of being women and carers makes us visible – whatever our age.