

I became a mother in 2018 and the experience has changed me profoundly. Whilst making this quilt, I felt a deep sense of history and connection to ancient life forms. The piece feels quite complicated to me which makes sense given how extraordinary and life changing bringing children into the world has been for me.